Moderator

Madeline Buitelaar

Openheimer Investigations Group

In this exploration of conflict resolution, this CLE will offer perspectives from a mediator and organizational ombuds on how to diagnose and approach conflict, the different potential pathways to address conflict, the tools they use in their practices, and what happens next—in instances of success and impasse. This will help attorneys learn how to solve disputes before they escalate, saving clients and attorneys alike both time and resources. We will explore attorney-client privilege in mediations and investigations, with a discussion of the City of Petaluma v. Superior Court case.

Topics

- Diagnosing conflict in the workplace, schools, and public office
- Tools of conflict resolution for labor & employment attorneys, litigators, and in-house counsel
- Advising employees and organizations on the best approach for early resolution of disputes
- Counseling clients during HR disputes
- Next steps for success – and impasse – in alternative dispute resolution
