The Arnold Law Practice

Protection of the natural and human environment is the foundation of environmental law. The UK's environmental law began with the industrial revolution; California's began with statehood in 1850. Both legal systems continue to evolve, the UK with Brexit and California leading the US in addressing climate change, redevelopment, and the natural environment.

Topics

- Two systems - UK and EU and California and US
- Brexit's changes to UK environmental law
- Trump Administration and California - changes
