This program will focus on the intersection between trust and support issues both from the vantage point of an ongoing marriage, as well as in the premarital/prevention context. Topics will include characterization of property, income available for support, marital standard of living, disclosures and third party privacy rights, as well as fiduciary duties and management and control rights. In the premarital agreement context, the panelists will provide real life solutions, based upon their experience, for contracting about how and when trust assets and income are to be considered for the purposes of determining spousal support.
