Message from the Chair

For the second year in a row, the Labor & Employment Law Section will hold its conference virtually. Due to COVID restrictions, we will not convene at our traditional Yosemite venue. Nevertheless, just like every year, our conference will bring members and other practitioners, panels on developments in labor and employment law: new leadership within labor and employment government agencies; the latest on nondisclosure and confidentiality provisions in employment agreements; significant labor and employment case law changes over the last year; vaccine mandates; and the impact of COVID on litigation. We hope to see you there!
