Hear from seasoned criminal defense attorneys and data forensic experts as they break down their crisis response approach when the DOJ and SEC subpoenas start flying and the whistleblowers start talking. With reference to their real-world experience, these practitioners share their best approaches to defending corporations and officers from the latest enforcement trends. The focus will be on practical suggestions for stemming damage in the early weeks after revelations of alleged wrongdoing surface, whether they are known to the government or still percolating internally.

Topics

- Identifying Key Players, Securing Evidence and Nailing Down Scope
- Robust But Targeted Forensic and Data Analyses
- Maintenance and Waiver of the Attorney Client Privilege
- Employee Interviews in the Age of Remote Work and Whistleblower Actions
- Weighing Self-Disclosure, Cooperation, and Joint Defense Arrangements
- Effective Communication with Auditors, Boards, and Other Constituents
