This training teaches family law attorneys how to integrate trauma-informed approaches into their work with custody clients. Participants will learn to identify the manifestations of complex trauma and understand how these may affect client behavior. A role-play vignette of a legal interview with a traumatized client will demonstrate practical strategies for de-escalation, grounding, validation, and empowerment. Upon completion, attorneys will both learn how to recognize distinct manifestations of trauma and apply effective strategies to support traumatized clients with greater empathy and understanding.

Topics

- Learn how complex trauma differs from the diagnostic description of PTSD
- Learn about the physical, emotional, mental, and behavioral manifestations of trauma
- Learn about trauma as nervous system dysregulation: fight, flight, or freeze
- Learn strategies to use when working with traumatized clients
