Are you a law student or junior attorney interested in building a practice in international law? This program brings together three experienced practitioners who have built diverse practices and professional networks in international law here in San Francisco. The speakers will elaborate on their career paths, key opportunities that have shaped their careers, the various forums where they have litigated, and emerging issues in the field.

Topics

- Building an international law practice in San Francisco
- Networking through the BASF International Law Section
- Public Sector to Private Sector Career Paths
- Cross Border Litigation in Federal Courts, Foreign Courts, and International Arbitration
- Emerging issues and practices
